

Volunteers Wanted for a new Multiple Sclerosis Telehealth Research Study

Have you been diagnosed with MS?
Do you live with someone who has been diagnosed with MS?

We are looking for volunteers with Multiple Sclerosis (MS) and one family member to take part in a six-week online research study to enhance resilience.

We are particularly interested in people with MS who have noticed changes in their cognitive abilities including memory, problem solving and planning.

This study is being run by MyHealios, a company that provides dedicated online care to people with MS and their families.

This study provides information on cognition in MS and how to manage changes, along with learning about resilience. It will be done in your own home at your convenience, all you need is a computer and a web camera.

There is no cost to you for participating in the study.

If you and your family member are both interested, please contact the study coordinator Justin Stanley:
